“Rachel has visited us on several occasions, and each time she’s motivated and inspired the students more than you’d imagine possible. The range of techniques she shares with them is fantastic, and the impact on their general approach is palpable. I’ve never known the students talk about an outside speaker / course provider so much and in such glowing terms. Get Rachel in to your school!”

I was very impressed with the resources and the amount of quick and practical tips for the students to be able to use instantly. It was very well organised and very useful for the students who were engaged throughout the whole session. All the students I have spoken to since found it useful”
